

Magnum, Cry For You

I'm standing in your doorway like I've done a thousand times
I keep waiting for an answer that don't come
I can get through anything, live through any storm life can bring
But when it comes to losing you, there's nothing I can do

But cry for you, baby
Die every time that I hear your name
Don't know what to do
A man shouldn't cry like I cry for you
Ever since you said goodbye
Baby, every single night, I cry for you

I keep staring at your window, trying to see through your walls
'Cause the walls we build ain't always made of stone
I'm standing out in the rain, knowing I can't touch you again
It's the hardest thing to take, the thought of it makes me

Cry for you, baby
Die every time that I hear your name
Don't know what to do
A man shouldn't cry like I cry for you
Ever since you said goodbye
Baby, every single night, I cry for you

Blame it on pride - my fatal mistake
'Cause I never stopped loving you
No, I never said a word - I just let you go
Now I'm paying for it all

Cry for you, baby
Die every time that I hear your name
Don't know what to do
A man shouldn't cry like I cry for you
Ever since you said goodbye
Baby, every single night, I cry for you
