Magnum, Midnight (You Won't Be Sleeping)

I know how it feels to cry but it's only lovers Know the reason why they stay together And when your time has come, you'll soon discover Look at what you've done, could be forever

Your open arms say everything, you're always there It seems I might be here all night I'll light a candle bright, to show your way tonight Midnight, you won't be sleeping, I won't be leaving

Off with my foolish pride, too much in trouble Never could decide, always a struggle Now I know how it feels to cry, it's only lovers Know the reason why they stay together

Your open arms say everything, you're always there It seems I might be here all night I'll light a candle bright, to show your way tonight Midnight, you won't be sleeping, I won't be leaving