

Maisie Peters, Two Weeks Ago

I wish it was two weeks ago
In your room that night, I wish I'd known
When you held me tight, wish I hadn't let go
And I wish it was two weeks ago
I wish we kissed when we first wanted
And we didn't miss all the time we did
When we said goodbye, wish I hadn't let go
And I wish it was two weeks ago

You were driving fast, I was holding back
And I loved you, babe, but I bet you knew that
The song was true and the sky was black
God, I wish it was two weeks ago
When you said we're like your mom and dad
And you loved me, babe, when you told me that
And the song was true and the sky was black
God, I wish it was two weeks ago, woah
I wish it was two weeks ago, woah

I wish when we went to the beach that day
We'd taken more pictures, I'd been more brave
I was happier than I'd ever known
Now I wish it was two weeks ago
The airport broke us in two
A friend drove me 'cause you couldn't do
And that last kiss, couldn't look at you
But I wish I did

You were falling fast, I was holding back
And I loved you, babe, but I bet you knew that
The song was true and the sky was black
God, I wish it was two weeks ago
When you said we're like your mom and dad
And you loved me, babe, when you told me that
And the song was true and the sky was black
God, I wish it was two weeks ago, woah (Woah)
I wish it was two weeks ago, woah (Woah)
I wish it was two weeks ago (Oh)
I wish it was two weeks ago, woah (Woah)

I was yours so fast, I was scared so bad
God, I loved you, babe, did I tell you that?
The song was true, now it's all I have
And I wish it was two weeks ago
And, when you said we're like your mom and dad
And you loved me, babe, when you told me that
Now this song's for you, and it's all we have
And I wish it was two weeks ago
