Mandisa, True Beauty

Do you think that a California girl is supposed to have curls and wear a jean size 3? All the curves in all the right places, spray tanned faces just like on TV? And we read in the gospel of Vogue that we're all suppose to dress and move and be Visions of perfection Such a misconception 'Cause the real connection is deeper than the eye can see

What's inside of you What's inside of me The hands that made the moon and stars The mountains and the seas Made you wonderful, beautiful, marvelously Let the whole world see your True beauty

Don't know much about Dolce & Dolce &

Doesn't come in a bottle, doesn't come in a box You can't spray it on, you can't wash it off You can't nip and tuck, you can't sew it up So don't waste your time It's the love in your heart, the peace in your soul The hope in your smile lets the whole world know This little light - you gotta let it shine
