

Mandragora Scream, Crow's Love

When the sun begins to fade, a blaze of blood embrace between us our kisses like a flame reborn, wrigglin', rise, snowin' through death bloody bites ever in our life... gusts of wind break into out cold Love has never made a choice I realize it facin' two mirrors dreamin', bleedin', like a larva thorn I groan through this blood full night Fallin' from my eyes you never saw how strongly loves a Crow while the sun was low...
I hold you close...
This passion of beast is a charmin' mournful thing night has fallen in deepest forest's shine It was a time when we fell down meetin' you made my life so brave. when I joined you into your grave I still call and long for you Tonight... through the mirror's light you never tried lyin' by my side you never know how strongly loves a Crow I hold you close my howlin' flow, ever...
I try to play my best cadence of sounds with melodies I hope to heal your heart... never you lose, never you clang my farewell standin' I cry waitin' for my old bloody bites never you lose, never you try...
