

Marc Anthony, Name Of The Game

The name of the game, it's not about money
It's not about fame you are what you are
That's the name of the game
Hook your feeling up to a power station
Let your feelings broadcast across the nation, hey hands up!
Maybe a fool takes a fortune by chance
Maybe the world has lost its romance
But you've got to try to keep on dancing the dance of the hearts
The name of the game, it's not about money
It's not about fame you are what you are
That's the name of the game
It's the name of the game in love and emotion
The beat is the same, you are what you are
That's the name of the game
I don't need to be the king of the jungle or the queen of the hearts
'Cause people try and take you and make you over into something you're not! Stand up!
Tell your teacher tell your summer affair the power is yours
The magic is there, it's at your command
So don't let it slip through your hands
The name of the game, it's not about money
It's not about fame you are what you are
That's the name of the game
Headlines, party lines, the only sense it makes is that it takes all kinds old friends
No friends, the dance of the heart can never end the dance of the heart never ends, it never ends
It's not about the money it's not about the fame material to the spiritual world. Stand up!
Maybe a fool takes a fortune by chance, maybe the world has lost its romance
But you've got to try to keep on dancing the dance of the hearts
The name of the game, it's not about money
It's not about fame you are what you are
That's the name of the game
It's the name of the game in love and emotion
The beat is the same, you are what you are
That's the name of the game
That's the name of the game.....
