Marduk, Of Hells Fire

I hear the evil calling of the spirits of the dark

And see the beauty and the power of the devils mark

The night always calls my name

Gaze into my eyes and see the shadows of the flames

Of hells fire

Torture and pain I desire

Let the flames reach higher

And lick the realms of the Nazarene liar

Dark reflections sweep the night a call from the depths of the earth

Antichrist is rising the image of Him to which hell gave birth

Necromantical chants are brought forth by the winds of the north

The message of destruction from Satan and his court

The toll of damnations bell

Open the gates to hell

I can feel the delightful smell

Of rotten souls who in darkness dwell

Thou - The archangel who fell from the heavenly empire

Thou - The hand that wound with evil and unholy desire

Thou - The black lord of the unlight to which we all belong

From the deepest part of gehenna tormented soulos sings damnations song

Write my name with the slaughtered angels blood

As I step in the face of the fallen soldiers of god

All the children of Jehova will always be our prey

Beyond the pearly gates we shall crush, rape destroy and slay

Grant us the first power

Up from hell we storm at the witching hour

Where we ride the soil turns sour

The evil eye behold from hells highest tower

The power of christ doesn't compell me

Lucifer I kneel before thee

Join the forces of Satan for you will see

Grim and dark the future is going to be

Of hells fire