

Marianne Faithfull, File It Under Fun From The Past

Do you remember me,
Do you remember anything?
Don't pretend I didn't make you laugh,
File it under fun from the past.

Well, I'm looking 'round the room
Some of the people I've loved.
Guess I remember everything
File it under fun from the past.

I could have been a contender, a contender for your love
I would have given you everything if I only knew how.
I would have given you everything if I only knew how, only knew how,
I could have been a contender, a contender for your love.
File it under fun from the past,
File it under fun from the past.

It was only you, it was always only you.
I never saw what other people bought,
I never cared what they thought.
Well, I'm looking 'round the room, some of the people I've loved,
Guess I remember everything.
File it under fun from the past.

You could have been a contender, a contender for my love.

I would have given you everything if I only knew how, only knew how.
I would have given you everything if I only knew how, only knew how,
You could have been a contender, a contender for my love.
File it under fun from the past,
File it under fun from the past.

Do you remember me,
Do you remember anything?
Don't pretend that it'll make you laugh,
File it under fun from the past.

Well, I'm looking 'round the room
Some of the people I've loved.
Guess I remember everything,
File it under fun from the past.

I could have been a contender, a contender for your love,
I could have given you everything if I only knew how, only knew how.
I would have given you everything if I only knew how, only knew how,
I could have been a contender, a contender for your love.
File it under fun from the past,
File it under fun from the past.
