Marillion, Half The World

When youre driving through the city I hope all your lights are green And the boy you choose to live with Well, I hope hes never mean

When you stop a while to think I hope your thoughts dont drag you down When youve had too much to drink I hope the room dont spin around

Youre a girl half the world could fall in love with

Doo doo doo..

I hope you never get insomnia And all your dreams are sweet And that everybody smiles at you When they see you on the street

I hope you think about me sometimes But not enough to cause you pain And someday that we can say were friends again

Youre a girl half the world could fall in love with Youre a girl half the world could fall in love Could fall in love with

Doo doo doo..

Youre a girl half the world could fall in love with Half the world could fall in love Youre a girl half the world could fall in love with
