

Mason Proper, The World Is Smaller Than You Think

If you don't know why you're here, join the club.
All humanity has already signed up.
If you cannot sleep at night for fright of being this lonely forever,
remember, that we are all in the same boat.
The world is smaller than you think
If you figure yourself out, bite your tongue.
You'll just make us all get jealous and we don't want that.
The world is deeper than you know
If you've fallen out of love, if your wide eyes went narrow then call me, sometime.
We'll have a good time, 'cause we'll fake it.
And we'll make it through somehow we will make it through somehow and we'll finally be let down from the marble pedestals that we stand on.
The world is smaller than you think