

Matt Pond PA, Lily Two

who knows whats right lily you dont have to when you see the moon you trust its light the crickets sing loud lily you can hear it in their voices how youve made them proud at the top of your voice there is no doing wrong i swear lily you be just who you are dont keep appointments with disappointment hiding in a hiding place you dont have to look away the mississippi brings new water every day look at the sun how it glows in a million waves lily there are just as many ways

southern skies
lily youre connected to the stars and to the world tonight the night is fair lily it can promise that the next day therell be so much there
