

Matthew Santos, Daughter Of The Sun

Seven Ravens sing your Dark Chorus
Garden of, Dorian Gray
Pay no mind, to the arousing song
For they always fade away
The morning comes without her glory
The wake is slow to rise
Is this how you'd like to live your, story?
With a fog over your eyes, blind to the day
Eleanor...You are mistaken you're a daughter of the sun
Your life is just as you take it
Its what you make it nothing more
Eleanor you must awaken you've been sleeping so long
Your life is passing you by, you can't ignore it
Eleanor
If I could shake you from this, Darkness
If I could just understand
If I could write a song to lift your spirits
Maybe learn the strength of heart in hand...and now I say
Eleanor...You are mistaken you're a daughter of the sun
Your life is just as you take it
Its what you make it nothing more
Eleanor you must awaken you've been sleep-ing so long
Your life is passing you by, you can't ignore it
Eleanor
Eleanor...You are mistaken you're a daughter of the sun
Your life is just as you take it
Its what you make it nothing more
Eleanor you must awaken you've been sleeping so long
Your life is passing you by, you can't ignore it, you can't ignore it
Eleanor