

Media Lab, Lie Awake

We all try and hide behind our face
We all make mistakes we cant erase
I've tried and tried to be just what they want
I gave my heart away to only rot
I gave it to you
We all lie awake at night
We all lie awake and cry
We all begin to see inside our lies
In the end the truth is no surprise
Lie down, shed a tear by you side
Thank you friends that your still alive
There's nothing left when you're fake in your face
Just remember next time to embrace
I miss you
But I don't love you any more
Take me, take my heart and bleed it more, make me feel alone
Take my soul and burn it in celebration
My unavailable separation from the desire to smile draws tears from my heart
For I know the smile I seek has not been created for me to smile