break my heart a thousand times should have treated me better all this time as i let you go and say good-bye i'm running faster into the night

break your heart a thousand ways for every tear of mine gonna make you pay

but the time is gone now should have took the time

break your heart a thousand ways
should have known better than to love the pain i've let you go i've said good-bye nothing you say can give back the wasted time

break your heart a thousand ways
break your heart a thousand ways

could have treated me better

break your heart a thousand ways
break my heart a thousand times
break your heart a thousand ways
break your heart a thousand ways
