

Melissa Dori Dye, 1000 Times

break my heart a thousand times should have treated me better all this time as i let you go and say good-bye i'm running faster into the night

break my heart a thousand times
break your heart a thousand ways for every tear of mine gonna make you pay

break my heart a thousand times but the time is gone now should have took the time

break your heart a thousand ways
should have known better than to love the pain i've let you go i've said good-bye nothing you say can give back the wasted time

break my heart a thousand times
break your heart a thousand ways
break my heart a thousand times
break your heart a thousand ways

could have treated me better
could have treated me better
could have treated me better
could have treated me better

break my heart a thousand times
should have treated me better all this time
as i let you go and say good-bye i'm running faster into the night

break my heart a thousand times
break your heart a thousand ways
for every tear of mine gonna make you pay
break my heart a thousand times
break my heart a thousand times
break your heart a thousand ways
break my heart a thousand times
break your heart a thousand ways
for every tear of mine gonna make you pay

Written By: Melissa Dori Dye
2005 Meladori Publishing, ASCAP