

Melissa Dori Dye, Faces Time Replaces

turn around and there you stand watch it all slip through your hands you think it's easy soon you'll find you'll be losing your mind i see things clearly i know i do when it comes to life i'm not at all confused i'm so confused it's just i wonder what to believe sometimes i know the next will be me think of the faces time replaces will i fall next in line

if that's what you see then you better believe soon it will be your time

sometimes your fears can make you strong when it's gone don't hold on the price is high when you want too much however real it's not enough it won't help to be crying you won't know where it's hiding you'd never know it but i see us falling i try to fight it but it keeps on calling

think of the faces time replaces
will i fall next in line
if that's what you see then you better believe soon it will be your time

what of the faces time erases
will i fall next in line
if that's what you see then you better believe soon it will be your time

who will be next in line who will fall next in line can you tell me

think of the faces time replaces
will i fall next in line
if that's what you fear then you better believe soon it will be your time
what of the faces time erases
will i fall next in line
if that's what you fear then the end may be near i'll never run from mine