

Mellow Candle, Reverend Sisters

Reverend Sisters I remember were it yesterday standing young and green before the wisdom age and your black habits wrought
"life is not a dream you know" you said
"at your age you couldn't know" you said
"come into our office and I'll show you come into our office and I'll tell you where to go"

Reverend Sisters I remember standing in your hall there among the masses watching reverence speaking from the stage
"life is all too short my dears" she said
"wisdom will come with the years" she said
"come into our office and I'll show you
come into our office and I'll tell you where to go" Where to go?

Reverend Sisters I remember everything you see all your words and teachings left some imprint on my memory though I'm sad it had to be this way as you said we change with every day Reverend Sisters though I hate to say it now the veils are lifted from my eyes and I can see.
I can see.
