

Mercenary, Bloodsong

Through the dreaming lights, into darkness of nightmares to the endless hollow, I shall go from happiness to sorrow, from something to nothing from the beginning to the end

You see my truth and see my name
I will believe in you and you will succumb to me See my truth and see my name, and I will know you and I will drain you dry

All is fading, all is lost the endless never, the blood light the darker shadows, and the darkest night
the endless never, the blood light

As my life fades out, as death kicks in will I regret my life, of sin from punisher to punished, from master to slave to my endless grave

You see my truth and see my name
I will believe in you and you will succumb to me
see my truth and see my name, and I will know you and I will drain

All is fading, all is lost
the endless never, the blood light
the darker shadow, and the darkest night
the endless never, the blood light

Take me away, far from this day and let me stay, and believe in my shadow

All is fading, all is lost
the endless never, the blood light
the darker shadow, and the darkest night
the endless never, the blood light fading black, the endless never fading black, the endless never