

Merril Bainbridge, Garden In My Room

There's a garden in my room, would you like to take a look?
There are fascinating things you'll find there.
If you dare to come inside there is nothing I will hide.
Come where there is sweet perfume in the garden in my room.

There's a garden in room, it has apples sweet and ripe.
If you'd like to have a taste I'll let you.
Cherries red as they could be, such amazing things to see.
Everything is in full bloom in the garden in my room.

It's not far I can take you there, where the air is cool and dry.
Lay your head on my flower bed and I promise you you'll never ever want to say good-bye.

It's not far I can take you there, where the air is cool and dry.
Lay your head on my flower bed and I promise you you'll never ever want to say good-bye.

There's a garden in my room, would you like to take a look?
Rest your body on my velvet roses.
Once you've tasted my delights many days will turn to nights.
There is nothing you won't do for the garden in my room.
