

Merz, Presume Too Much

All I want to say is if you disappoint me again I may have to trade in this heart for something new It's been dismantled and it's disabled and I'm disjoint and disappointed I don't have defenses, clear 'Cause happiness slipped upon my feet and now's slipping on ice I'm sick of wait to set me free It's all I want to say, faith's away and words aren't heavy in the air I've no strength left to care
Let the sun shine down
down upon me then I'll have everything I need When you think I'm being abrupt you think this is rushed Well, presume too much
How I take this is my problem
I don't want to be here anymore
I see a light on the exit door
And if I accept, well it's my choice not to see you anymore I see a light pour through the exit door as I walk
Let the sun shine down
down upon me
it gives me everything I need When you think I'm being rushed
You think this is tough Presume too much
presume too much
So let the sun shine down
down upon me
than I'll have everything I need
When you think I'm being abrupt
you think this is tough
Well, presume too much
presume too much
presume too much
