

Mesh, Leave You Nothing

one hour on a Sunday
that's all we have in the patience of Monday it never goes so fast and I wish, it was easy I wish you only knew I wish I could explain things instead of hurting you

it's never enough
it's never enough
it's only the broken edge of love
it's never the tide
a place in your mind
that's all
I don't want to leave you nothing

one hour on a Sunday
in the afternoon
an hour to be awkward embarrassed you and I'm glad that you 're happy your mother too
I wish there were two worlds one with me and you

it's never enough
it's never enough
it's only the broken edge of love
it's never the tide
that's all

it's never enough
I never regret the mistake I made
it's never enough
I never give up, it's the price I paid that's all we have

it's never enough
it's never enough
it's only the broken edge of love
it's never the tide
that's all
I don't want to leave you nothing
it's never enough
it's only the broken edge of love
