Metro Station, After The Fall

We skipped class and I, I guess our heads needed a break But our bodies stayed busy I know that you still miss me I give and you take it Two summers spent wasted Should we give up or save it? Will this make sense at all? After the fall (After the fall) Did you have to turn your back When forever didn't last? Two years and six months Have you even looked back once? Your body felt like summer But we spent the fall apart And we'd know by December If the cold could remember I give and you take it Two summers spent wasted Should we give up or save it? Will this make sense at all? After the fall (After the fall)x2 Í miss you Is it still okay to say it? I miss you I know that it's too late but We'll all stay in to hide the seasons Feel the same for different reasons We lost the road but I prefer it We're used to bein' so discouraged I give and you take it Two summers spent wasted Should we give up or save it? Will this make sense at all? After the fall (After the fall) We faded, I'm freezin' (After the fall) We had it all Now I'm barely breathin'
