MGMT, Future Reflections

And there were future reflections On the face and the hands On a green colored island On a primitive man It was the future reflected It felt familiar but new A street was missing a building The kids had something to do

There was a feeling the spirit was leaving Red like a marker So my tribe, with my knife Cut the heart from a lonely life

I saw patterns on floorboards Deep in the dust was a leader Someone was walking on floorboards Turned them from oak to cedar He can assess the situation I wrapped a string around my finger Into the forest with the young ones I don't expect to be a winner

But as long as you feel it I'm a believer My heart is phosphor Sea rolls and death tolls Break the surface don't break my bones

Off of the trail and off of your hands and Onto a new plan Is the cost to stay lost Forever in an empty skin Pale and thin

If it's good, or if it's fortune, I can't tell But pieces come together for some reason just as well Their guns couldn't see us There's a sea outside my door And one day I'll appreciate The rush of blood and the washed out beat of the shore

And remember what it felt like To be alone Sitting in the sunlight All alone
