

Michael Ball, Wherever You Are

(Andrew Gold/Graham Gouldman)

Whenever your shadow falls on stoney ground and there's not a hand for you to hold
Whenever the dreams you dream come crashing down
Everytime you think of home
Remember that you're not alone
And we'll be with you heart and soul
Wherever You Are
And if you should lose your path along the way
And find yourself walking in the dark
Whenever the ones you love seem far away
Everytime you think of home
Remember that you're not alone
And we'll be with you heart and soul
Wherever you are
Some are lost and some are lonely
Drifting away but they are only
Reaching out for love to hold on to Mother Father Sister Brother
Giving strength to one another
Guide them where the healing waters flow
Everytime you think of home
Remember that you're not alone
And we'll be with you heart and soul
Everytime you think of home
Remember that you're not alone
And we'll be with you heart and soul
Wherever you are