Miike Snow, The Wave

The first strike of the hammer Make my heart beat faster The rat tattoo on my knee That there was something behind me

You can hear them You can hear them banging on the tin But my love won't be sane Will I be staring at the wave?

Buried at the wave They told me I wasn't anything Before the bombs started falling I was feat of the master I was a walking disaster

I know you hear them come I know you hear the sound I know you feel it coming Don't let me get you down

I know you hear it coming...