

Mike Shinoda, Over Again

sometimes /2x
you don't say goodbye once
you say goodbye over and over and over again
sometimes /2x
you don't say goodbye once
you say goodbye over and over and over again
and over and over again

it was a month since e passed maybe less
and no one knew what to do we were such a mess
we were texting
we were calling
we were checking in we said we ought to play a show in honor of our friend well now that show's finally here it's tonight
supposed to go to the bowl get on stage
dim the lights
with our friends
and our family
in his name
celebrate
there's no way that I'll bready to get back up on that stage can't remember if I've cancelled any show but I'm thing about what I'm supposed to do and I don't know cause I think about not doing it in the same way as before and it makes me wanna puke my fucking guts out on the floor we rehearsed it for a month I'm worried about the set I get tackled by the grief at times that I would least expect I know what I should be doing when I'm singing but instead we'll be playing through a song and I'd remember in my head

sometimes /2x
you don't say goodbye once
you say goodbye over and over and over again
sometimes /2x
you don't say goodbye once
you say goodbye over and over and over again
and over and over again

what are they saying, I'm not raw? what the fuck you take me for?
all the sudden you hear what I've said a hundred ways before?
I been pushed, I been trapped drug myself through hell and back and fallen flat and had he balls to start it all again from scratch how do you feel
how you doing
how'd the show go?
am I insane to say the truth is that I don't know my body aches
heads spinning this is all wrong I almost lost it in the middle of a couple songs and everybody that I talk to is like,
"wow, must be really hard to figure out what to do?"
well, thank you genius you think it'll be a challenge only my life's work hanging in the fucking balance and all I wanted was to get a little a bit of closure and every step I took I looked and wasn't any closer cause sometimes when you say goodbye yeah you say it over and over and over and over

sometimes /2x
you don't say goodbye once
you say goodbye over and over and over again
sometimes /2x
you don't say goodbye once
you say goodbye over and over and over again
and over and over again