

Milburn, Lipstick Licking

The lights they start to flicker, moving in the sky
And the lips with their lipstick licking seem to pass me by, oh my
The big boy with the headlight glare says we're telling lies
And I know we're in for it when I see him looking over and he's giving me the evil eye

But the thought of you in my mind knows I'm never gonna go wrong
Cause you and me both we're singing the same song
I can tell by the look in your eye that we're never gonna go wrong
We'll go on, and on, and on

The big boy wont let him go, he says to apologise
And I know we're in for it when somebody wanders over just to smack him right between the eyes

But the thought of you in my mind knows I'm never gonna go wrong
Cause you and me both we're singing the same song
I can tell by the look in your eye that we're never gonna go wrong
We'll go on, and on, and on

But the thought of you in my mind knows I'm never gonna go wrong
Cause you and me both we're singing the same song
I can tell by the look in your eye that we're never gonna go wrong
We'll go on, and on, and on
