

Mindy McCready, I Just Want Love

I see a fire in your eyes
Exciting me, inviting me
I feel the power of your spell
Moving me, consuming me
I go with you to the edge of the stars
With every single beat of my heart

I want you, I need you, deep in the night
I'm craving the feeling of holding you tight
Six billion people on the planet, it's true
But I just want love from you

I search the world to find a way
To fill the need inside of me
I never once gave up the hope
That love exists, just like this
And now that I'm this close to your lips
I wanna lose myself in your kiss

I want you, I need you, deep in the night
I'm craving the feeling of holding you tight
Six billion people on the planet, it's true
But I just want love from you

I want you, I need you, deep in the night
I'm craving the feeling of holding you tight
Six billion people on the planet, it's true
But I just want love

I want you, I need you deep in the night
I'm craving the feeling of holding you tight
Six billion people on the planet, it's true
But I just want love from you

From you
I just want love
I just want love