

Modern Day John, Incomplete

Read your letter yesterday
Freezing in the pouring rain
Relentless words pursue my mind
A shattered heart can't turn away

Breathe your perfume on my clothes
Still hear your message on the phone
A million things keep reminding me
You're not home

There's nothing I won't do
To spend one more day with you
I would give it all way
To see you once again
To be with you again

So many words I want to say
So many memories remain
I close my eyes just to see you
Fade away

Time heals broken wings
But time is now my enemy
Here I am incomplete
Without you here with me