

Mojofly, Close To The End

have you ever felt being there have you ever found the sunshine on your hair have you been under your skin have you ever found the beauty from within like an unfamiliar song you can hum with all your heart but you'll never find the words and i don't wanna wake up without you again

and i don't wanna wake up

feeling so close to the end have you ever thought of nothing else as i wake up each day until the moment i lay my head on my bed and as i close my eyes and cling to my pillow though you're miles away i still wait for the day that would never come the stars are bound to die it all makes no sense i can't take the chance i don't want to see you go