

Monday Morning, Until The End

Hate escaping and there's a dark veil draping to cover all the innocence our nature leaves behind but giving up and giving in is not what I'm about and I will fight until the end of the world You're all I have worth fighting for and I would give my life just to prove You're all I have worth dying for peace unending and love transcending has all but lost its glimmer in the darkened eyes of man so I'm screaming am I'm only dreaming no, one day I will see Your face and never look away