

Moonspell, 2econd Skin

Crawl me into your second skin and teach me everything

(Second skin)

Through your eyes a voyeur Through your veils of a visionaire talk to me about those things no other soul would care.

(Second skin)

Outcast all the colours that I still have Camouflage me so I can fall and stand somewhere between an underrated angel and all those citizens marked with X-sex.

(Second skin)

Tissue apart and right to the heart teach me the wonders of your moral blade so I can stand still when you have to kill all that was yours before and now has to fade away

Draw me the fine line between religion and crime
You are one more son of a God you can never be wrong but aren't we all?

As we sit and wait for the serpent to bite our very own tale (As I sit and wait for the serpent to bite my very own tale)

(Second skin)