

Morten Harket, A Name Is A Name

A name is a name
But your names in the night
Call on your sleep
Where your soul comes alight
I could be there by your side
I would walk and you could fly
I'm not counting these days
Where I'm taken aside
I'm not losing my pride
I just left it outside
Cause I can't fight these waves
There's an ocean behind
Thought I looked you in the eye
But you came up from behind
A name is a name
I know your names in the night
This could be the dream of the angels above
To fly on the wings of a woman in love
You could be here by my side
I would kneel and you could fly
I'm not counting these days
Where I'm taken aside
