

Motorhead, Liar

Liar! you take your hand from me
I'll tear it from your wrist
Just take your hand from me
Liar! your mouth is ashes dog, do not presume
To fool me with your tales of god
Liar! Promises of Heaven now,
You cannot truly think you are the seven now
Liar! And I will challenge you,
All my life I swear that I will challenge you
I will be the watcher, and I will never sleep
Many miles before me, and promises to keep
Driving out the demons, and bring them all to trial
I see the face that cannot smile
Liar! You should be burning now, I know you are
The face and it is turning now
Liar! Your words are filth and false
You are the vile partner in the final waltz
Liar! Will be rid of you, a good day in any life
Will be rid of you
Liar! I see you eyeless smile
There is no other thing upon this world so vile

I will be the hero, and I can do no more
I can be the hero, as I have been before
I can take you places that you have never seen
I can make you pleased that you are clean

Killer! Do not presume I'm fooled
You kill the hearts of many but I'll break your rules
Killer! Don't show your teeth to me
I'll put your teeth and feed you with them count on me
Killer! I am thy killer too
I am the frightful thing that always follows you
Liar! I am thy nemesis.
I always knew one day that it would come to this

Why the world is wicked
I know the reason why
Why the world is wicked
I know that it's allowed
I can never leave it the way it was before
I can never disobey - the law