

Mouth of the Architect, Baobab

It swelled to the surface
And broke the skin
A growing storm
Uncontrollable
You let it die
In your arms
Our tears couldn't carry you
Our tears couldn't carry you
We watched you fall
Into the fire alone
We watched you fall
Into the fire alone
Alone
Our hearts broke without you
Our hearts would have followed you
Our hearts broke without you
Our hearts would have followed you
Our hearts broke without you
Our hearts would have followed you
Our hearts