

MU330, These Rocks Have Energy

these rocks have energy, the kind i think she really needs
these rocks have energy, the kind i think she really needs
and these leaves have energy, the kind i think i know she needs i stood right in the center looked up and wished her better the rocks the sky the leaves the wind they all just worked together that's when i stretched out my arms that's when i held my head up high i wished her for some comfort instead i saw more pain in sight these rocks have energy, the kind i think she really needs
and these leaves have energy, the kind i think i know she needs
if something could send her someone these rocks could they look so strong this rock is way too heavy she needs help send her steady it took some pain to get here it took some sweat it took some fear she's so much stronger than me half her heart cut out still smiling these rocks have energy, the kind i think she really needs
and these leaves have energy, the kind i think i know she needs