

Mudhoney, Farther I Go

All washed out from lack of sleep and promises I can't keep
So god damned tired I can barely talk
All my get it together is all but lost

The farther I go the further back I get
The farther I go the further back I get
The farther I go the further back I get
The farther I go

Burning bridges I'll never cross
Never understanding that kind of cost
Touched on this and I stepped on that God almighty, doing that kind of crap

The farther I go the further back I get
The farther I go the further back I get
The farther I go the further back I get
The farther I go

In a fog so thick it hurts to breathe
Find out coming I can barely see
Following steps I recognize Going in direction I despise

The farther I go the further back I get
The farther I go the further back I get
The farther I go the further back I get
The farther I go
