

Murray McLauchlan, Wouldn't Take Another Chance

Got a lot at stake at doin' what comes naturally
Got a lot of reasons to try and make sure
That the love keeps flowin'
And if the magic slipped away between you and me
I'd have to take the next plane west or the next train goin' east

I wouldn't take another chance on love
I wouldn't take a chance

Well you and me, we might fight sometimes
That's natural to mankind
When the long cool silence gets too long
There's no peace of mind
To stare all night at the back of your head
Is not the thing to do
I'd do anything
That I can
To try and get back to you

I wouldn't take another chance on love
I wouldn't take a chance

I can see me walkin' alone at night
In foggy London town
I can see me fightin' alone and dyin' in the underground
I can see me drinkin' my days away
Under a tall palm tree
You know that I wouldn't want to try again
I sure don't want to be free

I wouldn't take another chance on love
I wouldn't take a chance
