

Mustard Plug, What You Say

This time I can't pretend
I never thought that it would end
I might have gave the wrong impression
Will it ever be the same again?
Will it ever be the same again?
When you look to your new friends
Do you remember where we've been?
Those times you can't forget
You can't be over it yet

I can't stay, anyway,
I know you wanted me to say, that today, it is over

What you say
What you don't say
It doesn't matter to me
Cause you'll never believe in me anyway

You know I really can't pretend
Were we ever really friends?
Or just waiting around together
So I could let you down again
So I could let you down again
I guess we never really said
That this would be the end
I'm just waiting for an answer
So we know what this all meant

What you say
(I yell out loud at a brick wall)
What you don't say
(You yell back loud with your withdrawal)
It doesn't matter to me
(It makes no difference to me now)
Cause you'll never believe in me anyway
(It makes no difference cuz time moved on)