

MxPx, Honest Answers

I'll try to shed some common sense, situation so intense many questions, don't know whys & all the lies got tempers risin' there's 2 or 3 sides to it all, but just one truth if I recall looking to & thinking through, the word of God infinite, true If you want honest answers, I know you do, so say it's true we all want honest answers, something true, it's nothing new you're threatened by what you don't understand, and it's time give up yourself, why won't you stop facading? This wicked world so set in the ways, you've been taought day after day this nations brainwashed, without a clue, still they know not what they do i can't cast the stone, cause iv'e got problems of my own but i'm discussing, being real, this just the way I feel