

MxPx, Never Seems To End

I wish i had what it takes
I wish someone would give me a break
Why does everything have to be so complicated

If everything would go my way
When the hurt inside would go away
I could not give my life again
But it never seems
Seems to end
No it never seems to end

I still can't let go of you
The memories of the things we used to do
It hurts my brain when I think of us together

If everything would go my way
When the hurt inside would go away
I could not give my life again
But it never seems
Seems to end
No it never seems to end

If everything would go my way
When the hurt inside would go away
I could not give my life again
But it never seems
Seems to end
No it never seems to end