

My Dying Bride, Thy Raven Wings

In fiery flight we would leave this hall
The Holy house, House of God will fall
To death they go with music and song
But our dread simply must go on

I feel our need to feed goes on For our greed, watch them bleeding on This hour's ours, with open arms go on

Crowned with thorns and pain was he Raised our hands and slew him utterly Crimson waves of the tears of war
This is what we were put here for

Eden falls, Mercy for life
I hear their calls Stood and watched them die Heaven crawls. Wings burn on high Beauty falls. Beg unto me why?

Fold thy raven wings
'Tis our duty, darkness brings
If this day be our last Our victims await For they are vast

In fiery death we will crawl away Content we lived for each and every day Black and burned with a stench of decay.
