

My Little Airport, josephine's shop

Cos running business is not your gift, why don't you close it, why don't say damn it?

Depression in your shop of Mong Kok.

Silence on Monday, no change on Thursday.

But Josephine, you may think your pals cannot lose you.

Probably they need you so much more than they love you.

So why don't you abandon them?

Let yourself be free.

This world is bigger than what we always believe in.

So why don't you try to fade out from your dream of dreams?

Try to take the other risks.

Your life should not be like this.

Every color we can be.

The only thing I've bought in your shop was a $10 candle with some nice smelling.

It couldn't help you to pay the rent, couldn't resist hazards nor prevent disease.

But Josephine, you know your shop is cutie and beautiful.

The truth is, you know this beauty can't make you happy.

So why don't you abandon them?
