

Nadja Benaissa, Soft place to fall

What would you do
What would you say was your excuse
What if you knew you could not fail, but sail (tell me)
What would you change
What about you would stay the same
If you're looking for someone else to take the blame
(Why don't you just)
Take a look around you
See there's only you
If you ever doubt it
Here's what you can do, ooh
Keep lifting up to yourself
Just remember love and nothing else
As long as you start to surrender it all
You'll see that love is a soft place to fall
Oh yes it is
Where would you go
Where you show your secret soul
Tell me where is the you, you used to know, long ago
Why don't you just
Take a look around you
See there's only you
If you ever doubt it
Here's what you can do, ooh
Keep lifting up to yourself
Just remember love and nothing else
And as long as you start to surrender it all
You'll see that love is a soft place to fall
Don't you forget
Just who you are
Your love will shine
Lifting you higher than high
Your wings to fly
Keep lifting up to yourself
Just remember love and nothing else
And as long as you start to surrender it all
You'll see that love is a soft place to fall