

Nana Mouskouri, A foggy day in London town

Out of town were the people I knew. I had that feeling of self-pity: What to do? What to do? What to do?