

Neal McCoy, Spending Every Minute In Love

There's nothing like that morning coffee in bed
A big ol' pillow propped behind my head
Watching you stretch like a calico cat
No, it don't get much better than that

I love to hear you tell me what you dreamed
I love to hear you tell me everything
Wearing nothing but my T-shirt and your sleepy smile
You know, that look never goes out of style

We're right on time, right where we need to be
We've got each other and that's enough
Come rain or shine, we always seem to be
Spending every minute in love

We'll take the telephone off the hook
Close the cover on that appointment book
While the lazy ol' sun falls from the sky
Love will be falling on you and I

We're right on time, right where we need to be
We've got each other and that's enough
Come rain or shine, we always seem to be
Spending every minute in love

Sixty seconds to a minute
Sixty minutes to an hour
There's twenty-four of 'em in it
That's a lot of love power

Oh, we're right on time, right where we need to be
We've got each other and that's enough
Come rain or shine, we always seem to be
Spending every minute in love
Spending every minute in love