

NEBERU, Selfecution

And there is too much time left to live, all the inner scars are starting to relive.
I can't go back no more and I feel it all again, so please help me to end.
Lost and alone, being on my own. Always on the search for something can't be found.
Your breath is blowing me away to places where I can't stay. Always afraid of what's inside of me.
All pain that I buried back then, my hell is open up again.
All pain that I buried back then, it's time to draw the conclusion.
Since you woke up, everything I see are things that I forgot.
I have enough. Your only intention is to making me cold and rough.
I am always on the run, falling away from me and the things that I have done.
Is there a way for me to overcome? Parting ways with my inner abortion.
How can I free myself from my inner creature? I would do it all but it won't leave me.
Confused and ugly still forsaken, I have to go through hell again.
So execute me.
There is too much time left to live.
I can't go back and feel it all again, I am still forsaken.
I have to go through hell again, so execute me.