Nellie McKay, Yodel

Standin in the break of a yawn Where you done left me alone There's nothin happenin to hide Sittin in the shade of the lawn As everybody goes home There's nothin left here to find

Standin with my back to the wall Mindin the sky as it's fallin all around me Listenin for a break in the rain For it's not drownin my pain Anymore

Standin in the shade of a yard Where everybody works hard And everybody is dyin Walkin to the temple of art Where I'm found out as a fraud And there's nobody who's buyin
