

Nelson, Bits And Pieces

What are you crying for
Don't you know that your falling tears are just a thin disguise
Baby I'm on to you
Always pleading your innocence with those guilty eyes
Hanging by a thread for your love to come around
But now the ties are broken
I'm crashing to the ground
Can't you see, my heart's in bits and pieces
It comes as no surprise after all your lies
I was a fool to believe in those empty tears you cried
How long was it going on
Could it be you were deceiving me, right from the start
I'll never forget the day I came back just to find you in someone Else's arms
I let the passion blind when the truth was plain to see
You made the chains that bind me and I just can't break free
Can't you see my heart's in bits and pieces
It comes as no surprise after all your lies
I was a fool to believe in those empty tears you cried
Oh can't you see, our love's in bits and pieces
A nightmare coming true, all because of you
Now that the promise is broken, there's nothing left to lose
Little bits and pieces
After all your lies
I was a fool to believe you
My heart's in bits and pieces
Hanging by a thread for your love to come around
But now the ties are broken, I'm crashing to the ground

Repeat Chorus

Repeat Chorus