

Nerina Pallot, Someday Soon

Guess it's true -
I only ever wanted to be with you.
And now I find i've lost my way to go...
I always mess it up
You should have known i'm not reliable.
And now, when i'm tired,
I can't get to sleep.
My thoughts won't desert me
And I cannot dream.
The colours haved changed, only grey in my life
Now my sense of belonging has gone with my smile...

But I know someday soon
I will get home
And I know someday soon
I won't be alone
Yes I know someday soon
I will get home

Is this my life?
Is this the product of the years i've tried
So very hard yet I can't make a choice
And when I find the words,
I've lost my voice - I'm still a quiet one...
But you know my river
And it still runs deep
A hundred and thousand more secrets to keep...
I'm waiting for answers I know are inside
Now my teacher is here I can open my eyes...

But I know someday soon
I will get home
And I know someday soon
I won't be alone
Yes I know someday soon
I will get home

But you know my river
And it still runs deep
A hundred and thousand more secrets to keep...
I'm waiting for answers I know are inside
Now my teacher is here I can open my eyes...
